OUTDOOR LIVING

your ultimate outdoor living guide

let’s lounge
There’s a new star sitting poolside. “We’ve taken the simplicity of an iconic director’s chair and transformed it into a stunning outdoor piece,” Janice Feldman, CEO of JANUS et Cie, says. The “Regatta” lounge chair’s airy yet durable structure features a rope-woven seat back and a sleek steel frame. And true to form, the chic seat folds to transport and stow. (janusetcie.com) soft glow

Upgrade your yard with a posh post light—or three. The copper “French Quarter” lantern and “Holland” post by Bevolo Gas & Electric Lights suit a variety of outdoor settings. (bevolo.com)

Summer’s almost here! Are your porch, patio, and pool terrace dressed to impress? Elevate your exterior spaces with the latest in outdoor design.

pillow talk
Make an existing outdoor set feel new the easy way—with fresh pillows from a fresh face in furnishings. Wynne White Martin—her father is the CEO of Summer Classics, her brother started Gabby—founded her line, Wendy Jane, to offer stylish outdoor pillows, like her “Spotty” and “Vintage Stripe” designs, below, that also amp up the comfort. THERE ISN'T A DR. SEUSS MACHINE THAT JUST SPITS OUT CHAIRS.” —Castelle CEO Derek Ritzel

shady lady

Shield yourself from the sun—and look good doing it! Reminiscent of blue skies with fluffy clouds, the “Blue Dream Ombré” teak umbrella by Santa Barbara Designs will complement your pool area. (santabarbadasigns.com)

crafting the good life

Luxury outdoor manufacturer Castelle celebrates its 40th anniversary in style—collaborating with Biltmore on a collection that includes the handcrafted cast-aluminum “Estates” lounge chair, available in spring 2018. Castelle, based in Cartago, Costa Rica, upholds the “pura vida” lifestyle with eco-conscious, artisan-focused manufacturing. “There are no machines, just human hands,” Castelle CEO Derek Ritzel says. fire up!

Martyn Lawrence Bullard’s new design for Frontgate (frontgate.com), the “Arcadia” mosaic-tile fire table, below, serves up space to rest plates and drinks while it also delivers dazzling drama. Bullard’s goal: “Combine art and practicality in one high-style statement.” You can also fire up with the pierced “Lumen” lantern, above, from Brown Jordan (brownjordan.com) or the Agio “Lake House” fire column, left (agio-usa.com).

Pave the Way

In many markets, the idea of an outdoor living space has become an expectation," Joe Robb, national design specialist at Belgard, says. As popularity of outdoor fireplaces and kitchens grows, so does the need for quality hardscaping—in colors that complement nature. Brays are taking a back seat. Robb says, "I'm starting to see a return to earth tones," as illustrated in the sleek, plank-style look of the "Nixon" porcelain paver in Ember. (belgard.com)
